

Vudor Ventilating PORCH SHADES

Vudor Ventilating Porch Shades, costing but a few dollars, bring you all the summer comfort of a deep wood glade. Your porch becomes a cool refuge from the summer glare, the most inviting spot in your home for the family and social gatherings.

At night a sleeping porch, in complete privacy, yet open to every passing breeze.

Vudors are distinctly artistic for any home, cottage or mansion. They are made of slats of kiln-dried basswood stained permanently, and are the only Ventilating Porch Shades made.

The Ostermoor special process of felting makes this a life-time mattress. Forty-five pounds of pure felt, made hotel style with rounded corners and in two parts, $18.00. For coolness for summer use, it has never had a peer. Ask the family who owns one.

Lawn Swings in two and four-passenger, extra heavy, 25 per cent. discount from regular prices, making them cost you $6.00 and $9.00.

TALK OF THE TOWN

See those silk skirts at Abbott's. The football game between the Barre Rangers and Barre Hill Rovers is postponed to a later date.

Joseph Merlo of Granite street has returned from a visit of a few days with friends in Waterbury.

Miss Annie B. Petrie has returned to Springfield, Mass., after passing a vacation with relatives in Barre.

A. P. Abbott, who, with Mrs. Abbott, is passing several weeks in camp at Lake Caspian, Greensboro, was in the city yesterday.

Charles Page, who has been passing a vacation with his mother, Mrs. Mason T. Page of Elm street, has returned to Boston, where he is employed.

Great bargains in hats. Open all day, Saturday, then closed till Sept. 1. Don't miss your last opportunity to get the season's best millinery at remarkably low prices. Step in. Mrs. H. S. Miles, over Dodge, the Jeweler.

The current issue of Telephone Topics, a magazine published monthly by the New England Telephone Co., contains an interesting half-tone of the float contributed by the local telephone office to the flag raising day parade May 19.

Tyler Thomson, who visited his family here while engaging men to work on a contract in Springfield, has returned to the job. Mr. Thomson, who is employed as a superintendent, offered laborer $3.05 per day and was unable to fill the desire quota, although six men accompanied him to Springfield.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth H. Mitchell, wife of the late John Mitchell, whose death Wednesday followed a long illness, were held in the mortuary chapel of B. W. Hooker & Co. this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. J. M. Beattie, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, was the officiating clergyman and interment was made in the family lot at Hope cemetery.

Rev. E. E. Wells, who was called to Barre by the death of his mother, Mrs. E. G. Wells of East street, left this morning for Attleboro, Mass., where he is pastor of a Methodist church. Rev. and Mrs. G. L. Wells of Glover and Rev. F. A. Wells of New Haven, Conn., who were here for the funeral, returned to their respective homes yesterday. Vernon Wells, a member of the coast artillery corps, who is on leave from Fort Barrancas, will remain in Barre for a few days.

"America in the War and Why," is the subject of the address to be given at the patriotic meeting in City park Sunday afternoon and the speaker, it was announced to-day, will be former Congressman Frank Plumley of Northfield. The patriotic meetings are a substitute for the union devotionals held each year by the union churches during the months of July and August. Patriotic music will be furnished by a union choir and a short service of worship will precede the address. The program is to begin at 5 o'clock and if the weather is unpropitious, the meeting will be held in the Hedding Methodist church.

Beacon street had a flag raising of its own last night and to-day a handsome flag which floats over the heights from a 40-foot staff bears testimony to the patriotism of young Americans in that neighborhood. The program was carried out on the premises of A. C. Moore, where the flag was unfurled. Because of restrictions enforced by the board of health, the affair embraced only the children living on Beacon street, although it was originally planned to invite many youngsters living on the French estate. It was a flag raising without spread eagle speeches, but the children sang lustily and well the national anthem while the flag was taking the breeze and added to the selection by a chorus of other patriotic airs.

Commuters aboard the M. & W. R. suburban train leaving Depot square at 4:15 o'clock went through a short-lived but anxious vigil yesterday afternoon when a Montpelier-bound granitecutter was dragged from the station to West street before he relinquished his hold on the rear platform rail. The man was tardy in reaching the station and the train was pulling out of the square when he made his greatest spurt. A bundle which he clasped tightly seemed to hamper his progress and when he finally caught hold of the rail the train was moving so fast that he was unable to pull himself aboard. The result was that he was dragged through the yard as far as West street, when his tenacity subsided and he let go. Bystanders in the square were ready to go to his aid, but the man picked himself up, calmly inventoried his injuries, which consisted of a scratch or two, and then started down the track.

Among the guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McKean of Watertown, N. Y., B. D. Page and Jay Roy of Morrisown, Edward J. Martin, H. J. Andrews, E. B. Bailey, W. J. Johnson of Burlington, F. N. Donahue of Rutland, A. H. Hills of Short Hills, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stebbins of Watertown, N. Y., R. J. O'Connor of Burlington, B. F. Colvin of Fremont, O., Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Austin and Mrs. J. J. Conant of Newark, N. J., Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Saybold and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lord of Jackson, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Simonds of Montpelier, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rust of Springfield, A. H. George of Dixon, Ill., E. H. Brooks of Canandaigua, N. Y., Theodore M. Hayden of Worcester, C. W. Brush of Fairfax, A. D. Johnson of Meyersdale, Pa., Rev. J. Kellier of Springfield, Mass., D. E. Wood of Portland, Me., H. J. Andrews of Burlington.

Mr. Church was interviewed in the city court room during the afternoon by nearly 25 candidates for citizenship. Attaches of the naturalization court are experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining blanks from the government, as the rush for papers when the war broke out exhausted the supply. On two or three occasions naturalization officials in Boston applied to Clerk F. S. Platt of Rutland for a part of his surplus and each time a quantity of blanks was furnished. It is stated that nearly 300 applications are pending.
